

The country of chargeability which we have shown on this notification is based on the information available to us. You should fill out the enclosed form DS-230 I (Application for Immigrant Visa and Alien Registration, Part I-Biographic Data) and return it to us as soon as possible. Make sure you show the actual place of birth for yourself and each member of your family. We will correct our records if the information which you provide is different from that we have. However, positive evidence of birth in Taiwan will have to be submitted at the time of the visa interview. An extract of household registration from the place where you were born showing the original birth registration would usually be acceptable. If you were born on mainland China you should obtain an extract of household registration from the office where you first registered after arrival in Taiwan.
